A WORD to a DRUNKARD.

1. A RE you a Man? GOD made you a Man. But you make yourself a Beast. Wherein does a Man differ from a Beast? Is it not chiefly in Reason, in Understanding? But you throw away what Reason you have. You strip yourself of your Understanding. You do all you can to make yourself a mere Beast: Not a Fool, not a Madman only; but a Swine, a poor, filthy Swine. Go and wallow with them in the Mire! Go, drink on, till thy Nakedness be uncovered, and shameful fpewing be on thy Glory.

2. O how honourable is a Beaft of GOD's making, compared to one who makes himself a Beaft! But that is not all. You make yourself a Devil. You stir up all the devilish Tempers that are in you, and gain others, which perhaps were not in you: At least, you heighten and increase them. You cause the Fire of Anger, or Malice, or Lust, to burn seven times hotter than before. At the same time you grieve the Spirit of GOD, till you drive him quite away from you. And, whatever Spark of Good remained in your Soul, you drown and quench at once.

3. So you are now just fit for every Work of the Devil, having cast off all that is good or virtuous, and filled your Heart with every thing that is bad, that is earthly, sensual, devilish. You have forced the Spirit of GOD to depart from you; for you would take none of his Reproof: And you have given yourself up into the Hands of the Devil, to be led blindfold by him at his Will.

4. Now, what should hinder the same Thing from befalling you, which befel him, who was ask'd, Which was the greatest Sin, Adultery, Drukenness, or Murder? And which of the three he had rather commit? He said, Drunkeness was the least. Soon after, he got drunk. He then met with another Man's Wife, and ravish'd her. The Husband coming to help her, he

he murder'd him. So Drunkenness, Adultery and Murder went together.

5. I have heard a Story of a poor, wild Indian, far wifer than either him or you. The English gave him a Cask of strong Liquor. The next Morning he call'd his Friends together, and setting it in the midst of them, said, "These white Men have given us Poison. This Man (calling him by his Name) was a wise Man, and would hurt none but his Enemies. But as soon as had drunk of this, he was mad, and would have kill'd his own Brother. We will not be poison'd." He then broke the Cask, and pour'd the Liquor upon the Sand.

6 On that Motive do you thus poison yourself? Only for the Pleasure of doing it? What will you make yourself a Beast, or rather a Devil? Will you run the Hazard of committing all manner of Villanies; and this only for the poor Pleasure of a few Moments, while the Poison is running down your Throat? O never call yourself a Christian! Never call yourself a Man! You are sunk beneath the greater part of the Beasts that perish.

7. Do you not rather drink, for the fake of Company? Do you not do it, to oblige your Friends? For Company, do you fay? How is this? Will you take a Dose of Ratsbane for Company? If twenty Men were to do so before you, would not you desire to be excused? How much more may you desire to be excused, from going to Hell for Company? But, " to oblige your Friends,"--What manner of Friends are they, who would be obliged by destroying yourself? Who would suffer, nay entice you so to do? They are Villains. They are your worst Enemies. They are just such Friends, as a Man that would smile in your Face, and stab you to the Heart.

8. O do not aim at any Excuse. Say not, as many do, "I am no one's Enemy but my coun." If it were so, what a poor Saying is this, "I give none but my coun Soul to the Devil." Alas! is not that too much? Why shouldst thou give him thy coun Soul? Do it not.

Rather give it to GOD.

But it is not so. You are an Enemy to your King, whom you rob hereby of an useful Subject. You are an Enemy to your Country, which you defraud of the Service you might do, either as a Man or as a Christian. You are an Enemy to every Man that sees you in your Sin; for your Example may move him to do the same. A Drunkard is a publick Enemy. I should not wonder at all, if you was (like Cain of old) as a fraid that every Man who meeteth you should flay you.

9. Above all, you are an Enemy to GOD, the great GOD of Heaven and Earth: To him who furrounds you on every Side, and can just now fend you quick into Hell. Him you are continually affronting to his Face. You are fetting him at open Defiance. O do not provoke him thus any more. Fear the great GOD.

to. You are an Enemy to Christ, to the Lord that bought you. You fly in the Face of his Authority. You fet at nought both his fovereign Power and tender Love. You crucify him afresh. And when you call him, your Saviour, what is it less than to betray him with a Kis?

Pray to GOD, to convince you in your inmost Soul, how often you have crucified him afresh, and put him to an open Shame! Pray that you may know yourself, inwardly and outwardly, all Sin, all Guilt, all Helplesness. Then cry out, Thou Son of David, have Mercy upon me! Thou Lamb of GOD, take away my Sins. Grant me thy Peace. Justify the Ungodly. O bring me to the Blood of Sprinkling, that I may go and sin no more; that I may love much, having had so much forgiven!
